

Robert was always handy, but after he retired, he became very enthusiastic about woodworking. He spent countless hours in the garage restoring wooden whiskey barrels and creating various projects. His specialty were Advent boxes he made for family and friends. Every December, we filled ours with mini bottles of various liquors, and late each afternoon, we'd open that day to discover what weird flavor we'd get to sample, like peanut butter and jelly whiskey, jalapeño vodka, or chocolate creme liquor. Then we'd text each other pictures of our bottles for the day with entertaining backgrounds.

If the spirit moves you, select a date and see what surprise flavor awaits. Then take it home and toast in honor of Robert.

 Only take one if you're over 21, and do NOT open it on the premises. Thank you! *****
